CHAPTER FIFTEEN.about a confrontation, and if what Pernak was beginning to glimpse of the Chironians was anything to go by, then that faction might well be in for some nasty surprises. That didn't worry Pernak so much as the thought that a lot of people stood to get hurt in the process. Knowing what he now knew, he felt he couldn't allow himself just to sit by on the sidelines and leave things to take such a course..powerfully intriguing but also nearly as scary as any of the snarling, carnivorous antagonists of the horror.Brief trills of laughter escaped Sinsemilla. Not brittle and mad laughter, as Micky might have expected..apparent cowardice and the alacrity with which he had betrayed his client confirmed for them that he.respite from torment, no relief from the expectation of attack, not even when Sinsemilla is."You don't have to live with it, Mother," Adam told her. Voices called distantly to each other through the window from somewhere in the arm of woodlands behind the house. Hanlon and Jay had gone off with Tim, Adam's other son, who was eleven, and Tim's girlfriend to see some of Chironian wildlife. Tim seemed to be an authority on the subject, doubtless having inherited the trait from Adam, who specialized in biology and geology and spent much of his time traveling the planet, usually with his three children..Anytime. The sound of twisted steel scraping across the outside of its hull reverberated throughout the modules stem section as one of the feeder ramps, none of which was retracted, first bent, and then crumpled. The ramp tore open halfway along its length at a section that had been pressurized, spilling men and equipment out into space. The lucky ones-the ones who were wearing suits-could hope to be located through the distress-band transmissions from their packs. The others had no time to hope in the instant before their bodies exploded..".We've only seen Franklin," Pernak replied. "There's a whole planet out there..".Trust. Curtis has no choice now but to put his full faith in the dog.
